

Got a question? With more than 35,000 newly diagnosed thyroid cancers per year this forum was developed for visitors to touch base with others around the world. There are many others out there that have gone through or are going through what you are going through right now.

The discussion forum at thyroidcancerblog.com is a great resource for newly diagnosed patients, family members and friends as well as thyroid cancer survivors. Ask your toughest questions. The community is here to be a resource for you. Remember the community could be anyone...they are not doctors.

The forum is currently closed for new registration due to spammers. However, there is still a lot of information posted and some great stories available for you to read.

You can enter the forum here:

Thyroid & Cancer Community Forum

